SUSTAINABILITY

Cardamom Tented Camp was created with the mission of protecting & restoring biodiversity in the Cardamom Mountains. We do this through our 4C framework: Conservation, Community, Culture, and Commerce, and believe that long-term success depends on a healthy balance between all four Cs.

PROTECTING BIODIVERSITY

Together with Wildlife Alliance we actively protect the forest through forest patrols and the setting up of camera traps. Our rangers help remove illegal snares, confiscate chainsaws, and prevent illegal logging and poaching, while camera traps monitor wildlife populations. Every guest stay contributes to these effort, with a portion of camp profits directly funding ranger salaries and camera traps.

COMMUNITY EMPOWERMENT

We prioritize local employment and support community-led initiatives that create sustainable livelihoods and contribute to the development of surrounding communities.

SELF-SUFFICIENT OPERATIONS

Operating in a remote location, the camp is powered by solar energy and carefully manages water, waste, and other natural resources to minimize its environmental footprint.

ARTIST RESIDENCY

Throughout the year, Cardamom Tented Camp welcomes a rotating selection of Cambodian artists, writers, researchers, and creatives for dedicated residency periods inspired by the wilderness of Botum Sakor National Park. During these special stays, guests have the rare opportunity to meet the resident artists, witness works in progress, and join intimate conversations where art, conservation, and storytelling come together. Each residency offers a unique perspective on the rainforest, creating meaningful connections between nature, local creativity, and the community that helps protect it.
